

Buildoffsite Registration Scheme

The Buildoffsite Registration Scheme operated by the Lloyd's Register Group is a process-based assessment scheme designed to benchmark offsite construction organisations against best practice in terms of competency, methodology and safety. The scheme serves as the vehicle for the standardisation of best practice across the offsite industry.

About the scheme

The Buildoffsite Registration Scheme ensures best practice within the offsite construction industry in terms of the safe and competent delivery of a product or service which meets client requirements. The scheme covers the design, manufacture, construction and project management activities and focuses on the process of delivery as well as the delivered product.

The provision of a factory quality, precision and safety-culture within the construction industry is recognised as the domain of the offsite construction sector and the Buildoffsite Registration Scheme has been introduced to formally endorse this view for all offsite organisations registered under the scheme. Lloyd's Register was chosen to operate the scheme because of the strength and international recognition of the brand as well as our track record for the standardisation of best practice and the preservation of safety within other industry sectors.

Registration under the scheme provides the offsite service provider with the assurance of the implementation of robust controls and strategies which will assist in the delivery of business performance improvement.

The scheme register, located on the Lloyd's Register web site, provides client organisations with the comfort that each of the registered organisations have been benchmarked against industry best practice.

Benefits of the scheme – offsite service providers

- Demonstrates best practice in the offsite construction sector.
- Demonstrates implementation of waste management and minimisation strategies.
- Promotes a safety culture compliant with CDM 2007.
- Listing on the Lloyd's Register web site promoting successful registration to the Buildoffsite Registration Scheme.
- Buildoffsite Registration Scheme certificate to display at premises.
- Use of the Buildoffsite Registration Scheme approval mark for promotional purposes.

Benefits of scheme – client organisations

- Assurance that the offsite industry supplier meets best practice in the safe and competent delivery of offsite services.
- Greater certainty of the delivery of a safe, competent and contractually compliant, fit for purpose product/service.

Categories of accreditation

The categories of accreditation are as follows:

- design
- manufacturing
- construction
- project management.

How long does accreditation take?

This will vary considerably dependent on the category of accreditation requested, as well as the performance of the company.

How long does accreditation last for?

Accreditation lasts for three years subject to an ongoing surveillance visit programme. The frequency of surveillance audits will depend on the size of the organisation and the accredited scopes of work registered.

Costs

The costs are dependent on the size of company and scopes of accreditation. Lloyd's Register will be happy to provide you with a quote for your individual company. An outline guide to the fee is detailed in the guidance notes.

How to apply

You will need to complete an application form which can be found on the Lloyd's Register web site as listed below. Once you send the form in, we will contact you to organise a schedule to suit you.
